

BVRS Youth Engagement Coordinator Job Description (Draft)

Baybrook Violence Reduction Strategy (BVRS) is a partnership among neighborhood residents and providers aimed at reducing violence in the Brooklyn, Curtis Bay and Brooklyn Park neighborhoods. The partnership is being spearheaded by the Greater Baybrook Alliance (GBA), a community development corporation that works cross-jurisdictionally within the Baybrook area (Brooklyn and Curtis Bay in Baltimore City, and Brooklyn Park in Anne Arundel County).

Between 2018 and May, 2021, there were a total of 146 firearm crimes in Brooklyn and Curtis Bay, with homicides and shootings accounting for 38 percent of these crimes. In Brooklyn Park there were a total of 239 crimes of serious violence (homicide, rape and robbery), and 8 total homicides. In addition, between 2016 and the first half of 2021, 86 Baybrook youths ages 15 to 18 were either a victim or perpetrator of firearm violence.

The Baybrook Violence Reduction Strategy (BVRS) aims to reduce violence in the Brooklyn, Curtis Bay and Brooklyn Park neighborhoods by 15 percent within two years of implementation. The BVRS also aims to increase collective efficacy (social cohesion and willingness to intervene among neighbors) by 20 percent within the same time period. In order to achieve these results, GBA aims to build Baybrook's capacity to deliver intensive case-management services using a life coaching model to a cohort of 20 youth ages 15 to 18 who are at the highest risk of being most impacted by and involved in violence. GBA also aims to direct its community development resources into violence hot spots and other key geographic priority areas (such as commonly traveled routes to school). GBA will build this capacity by bringing key system and neighborhood stakeholders together to: (1) identify youth to participate in life coaching services; (2) identify and fund critical gaps in local services targeted to youths most impacted by and involved in violence; and (3) utilize the SARA model (Scanning, Analysis, Response and Assessment) to develop and implement youth-engaged environmental design solutions within violence hot spots (BVRS Priority Areas).

Summary of the Position: This position supports the mission of the BVRS by identifying opportunities to increase collective impact among neighborhood-based youth serving organizations and neighborhood residents. The Youth Engagement Coordinator will work to build relationships with Baybrook's youth, families and neighborhood partners. The Youth Engagement Coordinator will identify and develop resident leaders (especially youth) in the community, and will create opportunities for young people ages middle school through young adult to connect to positive adults, peers, programs and activities. This Youth Engagement Coordinator will work closely with Baybrook neighbors, especially young people, and strive toward the development of a youth-led, adult supported framework for youth engagement within the Baybrook neighborhoods.
